YOUR PERSONAL HOME PAGE

Start your research or resume your work from your customized workspace. As you read eBooks, take notes and add personal tags, your home page populates.

- A. Search bar enables you to find eBooks by title, author or practice area within your collection.
- B. Recently read eBook titles appear front and center for quick access.
- C. My annotations shows you the most recent eBooks in which you have added notes and highlights. To view all annotations, click the Go to my annotations link or My Annotations in the left navigation bar.
- D. My tags displays all titles you have tagged for easy access.
- E. Home brings you back to the main page.
- F. Browse library allows you to view curated collections, sort by relevance or browse by filter.
- G. My books shows your history as well as shared, expiring and downloaded titles, plus those on hold, when applicable. Titles can be borrowed for 7 days and returned early when finished with the volume.
- H. Export queue makes it easy to view all selected annotations and select and export passages.
- I. Videos & more highlights video content based on your account subscription.
- J. My account includes features like download settings, help and sign out.

The screenshot shows the LexisNexis Digital Library interface. The top navigation bar includes a search bar (A), a search button, and a user account icon (J). The main content area is divided into two sections: 'Recently read' (B) and 'My annotations' (C). The 'Recently read' section displays a grid of book covers with their titles, authors, and last read dates. The 'My annotations' section shows a list of books with the number of annotations created and the date. A left sidebar contains navigation options: Home (E), Browse library (F), My books (G), My annotations (C), Export queue (H), My tags (D), and Videos & more (I). A 'My tags' section (D) is also visible at the bottom right of the page.

LEARN ABOUT YOUR TITLES

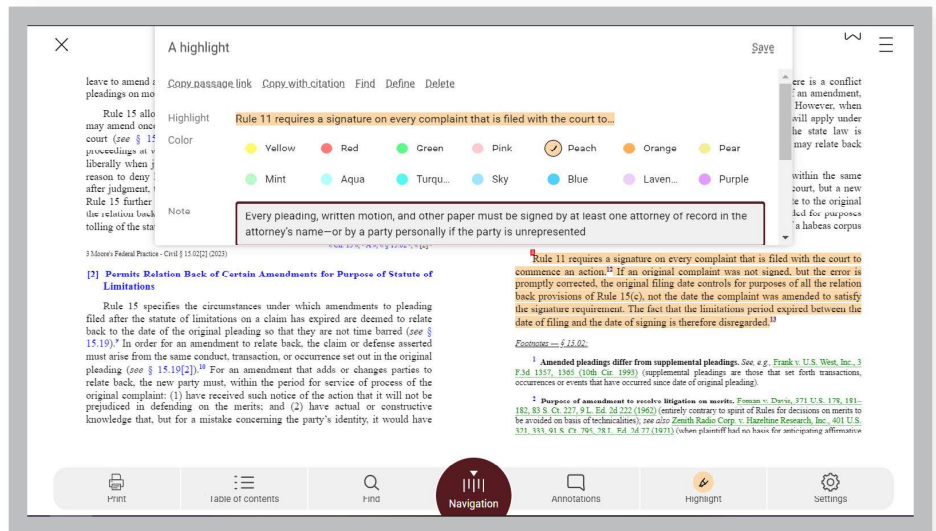

Select an eBook to learn more about its author, edition and release date. Use the table of contents view to open the title to a specific section... making your research more efficient.

From this page you can also copy a title link to share with another researcher in your organization, add a personal tag to organize eBooks of interest by project ID or topic, or search a single eBook or its entire set before opening it.

READING THE eBook

Click Read to begin reading the title. Add annotations, navigate via the table of contents, and much more. Blue links take you to locations inside the book, and green links connect you to cases and statutes on the Lexis+™ or Lexis® service.* Use My annotations page while on the digital library home screen to access and sort your notes quickly- without opening the eBook.
